The races at Jerome Park yesterday were attended by thousands of people, although the threatening sky kept thousands away. The grand-stand was only parstally filled, and the verandas of the great club-house did not present the usual brilliant array of fair and fashioularge numbers, with stately dames and beautiful en and sporting-men, a full quota of the wealthy men of comparative leisure, and of those simply "off for a day" from absorbing business, to enjoy the never-failing excitement of horse-racing. The day proved fine enough, notwithstanding the unfavorable indications, and the races, regarded simply as a spectacle. sport, indeed, to be far away from the din of the city, and to the magnificent and picturesque Park, the approaches to which are through roral and winding ways, through the woods where the many-colored caves are falling thick, to see the flery coursers leaves are failing thick, to see the flery coursers lightly burdened with their gayly-dressed raders, impatient for the start, and to see the run, the struggle for the lead, and the coming in of the winner amid the cheers of the thousands who were all breathless the mement before. To such attractions fair women and gallant men find nothing superior among outdoor sports. The world may grow very much older and very moral, and well the lead men left may persistently cling to the turf. Il the bad men left may persistently cling to the turf, nevertheless those whose wealth enables them to own horses will be racing them one against the other, whose horse is swiftest. Those of Jerome Park are the epresentative American races, and in the attendance there was the large and highly respectable ancat whose presence alone, if anything, can prevent from degenerating into a mere field for gam, as it has done of late years in other countries.

THE FLEETWOOD PARK RACES-THE JUDGES CENSURED.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we were present during the whole of the trot at Fleetwood Fark on Wednesday, October 5, between the Blacksmith Colt, Capt. Boyd, and Lilly; that we have read the acunit published in the newspapers, and consider them afair and prejudiced in every particular; that the king of the second and fourth heats from the Coit was exhibition of unfairness which is without a parallel the records of trotting; and that the presence of Mr. iter in the stand, and his constant interference with e judges, and allowing Mr. Duffy, the reputed owner of lly, to remain in the judges' stand during the race, deve the severest censure. The pool-books also show at one or more of the judges had bets on the race. The ideal anglainess of the judges caused the most intense guet among the spectators, who advised Col. Bartram draw his Colt, which he did with a just expression of indignation at his treatment. Jas. McElroy, 65 East oadway; S. B. Logan, 24 Duane-st.; A. Fields, 164 Modustry, Ellis N. A large number of United States officials assembled at the Marine Court, yesterday morning as wit-nesses for the Hon. Samuel G. Courtney, the ex-Federal District-Attorney, in a suit brought against William E. District Attorney, in a said brought against windam E. Brockway, a wholesale liquor dealer, for a counsel's fee of $1,000. It appears that Mr. Courtney defended Brockway on a charge of violating the Revenue law, and secured the acquital of the accusted after six or seven examinations before Commissioner Shields. Mr. Courtney ancsequently claimed $1,000 for his services, which Brockway refused to pay on the ground that it was an exerbitant amount.

Judge Matthew T. Brennan in all probability will cease to be a Police Commissioner to-morrow. H resignation, it is thought, is already in the hands of Mayor Hall, who will appoint his successor. Who that person may be is perhaps known only to one man at present; but no appointment is expected to be made nutil after election. Mr. Peter B. Sweeny was at Police headquarters yeterday, and in conversation with Commissioners Hosworth and Brennan. Ex-Supervisor Walter Roche is a candidate, according to report; and Judge Shandley is said to be not unwilling. The Sixth Ward, it is hinted, will obtain the place; but the Fourth and Fourteenth Wards think they have equal claims.

At the meeting of the Saleswomen's Early Closing Association, last night, it was expected that Miss Netta would hand over to the treasury $475, which she admitted having in her possession at the last meeting. She did not, however, put in an appearance, but her sister, the Corresponding Secretary, stated that she was sick. Mr. Wittenbeecher said that Miss Netta's action in keeping back the money she had collected was extremely damaging to the interests of the Society, as it created dissatisfaction among those who had contributed, and prevented the Association from using a great many means of advancing its interests. A metion was then carried that all moneys collected be handed in next Thursday.

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE, A meeting of the American Institute was held last evening in the rooms of the Association. Vice-President Gen. Wm. Hall had hardly taken the chalt when Mr. Godwin moved that Vice-President Nathan C Ely be requested to take the chair. This Dr. Rich stig matized as a piece of impudence, or "at least," he said, "it would be impudence if it came from a decent man; but we all know where it comes from." Mr. Godwin stated that when the meeting was organized he should appeal to the chair to protect him "from the assaults of blackguards." Dr. Rich wished to know who was the blackguard. "Our vice-President is in the chair, said he, "and a blackguard gets up and insuits him by proposing that another person should be Chairman." This little shirmishing having apparently given the Institute an appetite for work, they attacked the business of the evening in carnest. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read, an origetion was made by Mr. Godwin that the minutes were not correct, and as no disposition was shown to consider his objection, he waxed warm, and wished it to be understood that "no mor law could take away the rights of any member of the Institute." The minutes were then adopted. The Trustees reported that in accordance with the resolution passed by the audience at the last lecture of the season of 1869-70, the sum of $2,500 he appropriated to pay the expenses of a similar course of scientific lectures this Winter. The money was appropriated in accordance with the request. Dr. Rich made some remarks enlogistic of the last Geo. R. Jackson, formerly a prominent member of the Institute. A committee consisting of Dr. Rich, Alderman Nathan C. Ely, and Samuel D. Tillman was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions. matized as a piece of impudence, or "at least," he said,
